MISSION STATEMENT

Gadsden State Community College prepares students from all backgrounds for success through quality education, innovative workforce development, and inclusive community and global engagement.

Revised 8/25

FOWLER HALL HANDBOOK

This guide to residential living is provided to acquaint you with the opportunities, benefits, and regulations of residential living at Gadsden State Community College. Additional rules and regulations not included in this handbook may be found in the College Catalog and Student Handbook.

All residents must be enrolled and registered for at least 12 credit hours for fall and spring semesters, and 6 credit hours for mini and summer terms. The administration at Gadsden State realizes that not all individuals can adjust to group living. For this reason, and to safeguard the rights and privileges of the majority of the other students, the College reserves the right to dismiss any student from Fowler Hall when such action is considered advisable.

On-campus living is an essential part of student development, is an extension of the classroom experience, and allows students to fully enjoy college life. Residents will become aware of the many varieties of lifestyles and cultures and learn to live and work in these varieties through the means of compromise, consideration, and open-mindedness. Gadsden State challenges students to take full advantage of the many opportunities this experience affords to further their academic and personal development.

Each resident is responsible for becoming familiar with and abiding by the policies and procedures as stated in the handbook. Failure to comply with these policies and rules will result in disciplinary action which could also include expulsion from Fowler Hall. It is expected that residents will cooperate with the Director of Student Life and Fowler Hall staff in maintaining a routine of living that is also conducive to good study habits.

Gadsden State strives to provide a safe environment for students and employees. Security cameras are located throughout the building and on the exterior. Residents are encouraged to maintain a safe environment by notifying the Director of Student Life, Fowler Hall staff, or Police and Public Safety if they see strangers in the building unaccompanied by a resident or if they notice suspicious behavior. The 24-hour number is 256-312-2132.

If a registered sex offender registers for classes and becomes a student before the college receives such notification, the student will be immediately informed that he/she is being dropped from classes and will receive a refund of any fees that have been paid.

Gadsden State Community College reserves the right to deny or revoke the admission of registered sex offenders in accordance with College policy. The College reserves the right to evaluate the circumstances of each case and to refuse admission if it is determined that the applicant is a threat to the safety or security of the College community.

When the College is notified by a corrections or law enforcement agency that a registered sex offender has enrolled or intends to enroll, or a registered sex offender self-reports to a College official, the Safety and Security Committee will determine whether such individual will be allowed to attend classes.

Notification to the College Community will be consistent with any recommendation of an informing law enforcement agency.
